Peace to Reign in Europe.

The policy of the new emperor of Ger many, se outlined in the latest cable dis netcher, bears out exactly what has already been foreshadowed in the Reptungean. It is said Frederick "will take a specially strong position against the war party and the ultra-orthodox conservatives," and that the extremists in the ministry, including Von Pottkamer, vice president of the coun cil and minister of the Interior, and Von ticseler will probably resign shortly, and that Gen. Von Albedyll, head of the mile tary caldnet, and Count Von Waldersee, quartermaster general, will certainly do so This is most significant, and shows clearly enough that the disposition of the new emperor is so well understood by those who have had an opportunity to that it does not even need to be declared Lefore it te anticipated.

But hismarck remains! Here is another illustration of the chancellor's adroit char-voler. He never falls to adapt himself to the efectiontances of the bour. He vells bereath an exterior of practiced severity a political flexibleness that might be charged against men of far less ability and repute. appears that he saw what was coming hat year, when the late emperor was thought to be near death, and that he soil the Crown Prince entered into an agree ment that upon the latter's accession to the throne "the extreme element in the ministry should be eliminated." Here, then, we

by the political adaptability of Prince B's mand, we are none the less rejoiced at the resente position in favor of peace taken at the very threshold of his reign by the new emperor, and if he can have the power ful support of Bismarck, all the better. the best guarantee of peace in Europe that has been given for a long time. The Appeal de-There that "free trade is the one distinct dictrine" which "characterizes Democ racy," and that they "must hold fast to un aculterated free trade." That is where the Republicans want to meet the Democrats. But there is elender hope of finding that party willing to stand to their guns.
Ever whose President Cleveland issued his free trade ukase, Damperata in and our did not mean free trade, but was a byorld effect, facing both ways or neither way as the situation might require. The English newspapers came over to us with constructions like that which the Appeal utters. It is refreshing at least to find one Cleveland organ honest enough to say plainly what Democracy means.

Will some timid administration organ now read the Append out of the Democratic fold? Or shall its definition of Democracy stand? Will Democracy be really Demoeratic for once, or will it still exist as a dedger

A Suggestion to Mr. Claus Spreckies

It is understood that Mr. Claus Spreckles the Pacific coast augar king, is looking for a suitable place somewhere in the east where he may creek an extensive reducty and enter into active competition with the sugar trust. If this is true-and we sincerely hope it is true-we respectfully commend to Mr. Spreckles the advisability of establishing his refinery at the neighboring town of Alexandria. Nowhere else on this side of the continent could be find so many conditions favorable to a great manufactory of this kind. The climate is mild and equable, the facilities for transportation ty either river or rall of the very test, labor pientiful and cheap, is rever disturbed by rains and free It is s'ugularly free from all meneral on vegetable matter, and would, therefore, be invaluable in the refinter of sugar.

A movement, we understand, has been set on foot to have Mr. Spreckles visit Alexandria. He should do so, and we have no doubt be would be greatly pleased, for this is one of the towns of the country whose advantages as a manufacturing and chipping point have been arrangely over-lecked. There are indications of the opening up of a new and prosperous era for Alexandria, and it would be a most happy our cumstance in its history were so great a capitalist as Mr. Spreckles to establish Limself there just at this time.

The Stevenson Case.

Secretary Whitney yesterday made public his occision in the cases of Pay Inspector stevenson and Capt. Gook of the Brookly navy stevenson and Capt. Cook of the Brooky navy yard. The trouble arose from an alleged interplay side at, auction of four iron boilers, taken out of the Richmond, on the 30th of tax August for $400, besides the saie of other condemned materials on the 14th of November. Secretary Whitney says: "After examining the use trees carefully, I see no sufficient ground or questioning the good faith and houses not two of the others having to do with the condemned of the sale, but the most unbusiness like methods characterized the proceedings." The secretary's order directs that but officers be detached from duty at the yard.
